

The 11th Service Battalion Accrington East Lancashire Regiment: A Story of Courage and Sacrifice

The 11th Service Battalion Accrington East Lancashire Regiment was a unit of the British Army that fought in the First World War. The battalion was raised in Accrington, Lancashire, in September 1914, and was assigned to the 55th Brigade of the 18th (Eastern) Division.

Accrington Pals: The 11th (Service) Battalion (Accrington) East Lancashire Regiment: A History of the Battalion Raised from Accrington, Blackburn, Burnley and Chorley in World War One by William Turner

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language	: English
File size	: 145723 KB
Text-to-Speech	: Enabled
Screen Reader	: Supported
Enhanced typesetting	: Enabled
Word Wise	: Enabled
Print length	: 646 pages
Lending	: Enabled
Hardcover	: 22 pages
Item Weight	: 2.2 pounds

The battalion's first major engagement was the Battle of the Somme in July 1916. The battalion attacked the German lines at Serre, but was met with heavy resistance. The battalion suffered heavy casualties, but eventually managed to capture its objectives.

The battalion also fought in the Battle of Arras in April 1917. The battalion attacked the German lines at Vimy Ridge, and played a key role in the capture of the ridge. The battalion suffered heavy casualties again, but its success at Vimy Ridge helped to pave the way for the eventual Allied victory in the war.

The battalion's final major engagement was the Battle of Passchendaele in October 1917. The battalion attacked the German lines at Passchendaele, but was met with heavy resistance. The battalion suffered heavy casualties again, and was unable to capture its objectives.

The battalion was disbanded in March 1919. During the war, the battalion suffered a total of 1,061 casualties, including 256 killed in action. The battalion's sacrifice is remembered on the Accrington War Memorial.

The Men of the 11th Service Battalion

The men of the 11th Service Battalion Accrington East Lancashire Regiment came from all walks of life. They were miners, mill workers, farmers, and shopkeepers. They were young men, many of whom had never left their hometown before. But they were all united by a common goal: to serve their country.

The men of the 11th Service Battalion were a tough and resilient bunch. They endured some of the most difficult conditions of the war, including trench warfare, gas attacks, and artillery bombardments. But they never gave up. They fought bravely and with determination, and they made a significant contribution to the Allied victory in the war.

The Legacy of the 11th Service Battalion

The legacy of the 11th Service Battalion Accrington East Lancashire Regiment lives on today. The battalion's sacrifice is remembered on the Accrington War Memorial, and its story is told in books and articles. The battalion's spirit of courage and sacrifice is an inspiration to us all.

The 11th Service Battalion Accrington East Lancashire Regiment was a unit of the British Army that fought in the First World War. The battalion's men came from all walks of life, but they were all united by a common goal: to serve their country. The battalion fought bravely and with determination, and it made a significant contribution to the Allied victory in the war. The battalion's legacy lives on today, and its story is an inspiration to us all.

Accrington Pals: The 11th (Service) Battalion (Accrington) East Lancashire Regiment: A History of the Battalion Raised from Accrington, Blackburn, Burnley and Chorley in World War One by William Turner

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

- Language : English
- File size : 145723 KB
- Text-to-Speech : Enabled
- Screen Reader : Supported
- Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
- Word Wise : Enabled
- Print length : 646 pages
- Lending : Enabled
- Hardcover : 22 pages
- Item Weight : 2.2 pounds

Unlock Financial Literacy: Dive into "Accounting Explained In 100 Pages Or Less"

Embark on an enlightening journey with "Accounting Explained In 100 Pages Or Less," the ultimate guide for comprehending essential financial concepts. Designed for...

The Intrepid Wanda Jablonski and the Power of Information

In the heart of Nazi-occupied Poland, amidst the darkness and despair, a beacon of hope flickered—Wanda Jablonski, a courageous librarian who dedicated her...